Our Condolences

We were saddened to learn this past month that members of the SPL community have tragically passed away. On May 14th, on the way to the Team Shadow Event, Branden Gertsch and his passenger TJ were involved in a terrible accident that resulted in the loss of both of their lives. Such an event affects all of us, and at times like this, we all need to rely on each other, as Branden and TJ were family to some of us, but a friend to all of us. Our thoughts and prayers go out to Branden, TJ and their families, and we ask that yours do as well. Thank you all for your support.

Alma Gates in Canada

That's right Folks. Although it is all in preliminary stages, Alma Gates of Team JBL is coming to Vancouver, Canada in August. Three cheers for Team Gates. Plans are in the works to bring Alma and her famous Beast to Vancouver to tour the local JBL dealers in lower mainland. We at West Coast will do our very best to make sure that you know where she will be so that you can get this rare look of her amazing vehicle. Alma is unfortunately retiring after this season so this will literally be the last time she will be coming in this capacity. We urge you all to come out and visit Vancouver and meet Alma and see the JBL Bronco...in person.

Competitor of the Month

West Coast Extreme SPL would like to thank Yuli Shumsky on being the Competitor of the Month. West Coast first saw him back in 2004 at lasca Finals where he took 2nd place in stock 2 with a 153.

Yuli has been to a few finals and has proudly represented Canada. Yuli is commonly known as Prolifik on forums. Congrats Yuli!!! on a job well done.

WCES: What is your name?

YULI: Yuli Shumsky AKA Father Yuli.

WCES: When did you start competing?

YULI: around 1999 in spl of course.

WCES: What was your first system?

YULI: Two Kaption Audio SPL 12's and a pair of DEI 1100D's. Stock battery and 8 gauge power wire and I used to hit around 139 back then on the old AC-180.

WCES: Did anyone help you when you started?

YULI: When I started - no. I had no idea what I was doing. The good guys at Perfect Tones, www.perfect-tones.com, had eventually steered me in the right direction. Everything I know now came from them.

WCES: Are you affiliated with anyone?

YULI: Nope. I wish I was sponsored by Home Depot. I spent more money there over the years than on any piece of equipment I have ever had!!

WCES: What do you compete with now?

YULI: Pair of DD 10's, DD amp, Alpine deck, Hawker battery and a lot of welding cable. I'm now roughly hitting about 152+ on the termlab with my Jeep Grand Cherokee - the thing is louder than 2 CRXs I had!

WCES: What is next for you?

YULI: The never ending quest for dbs and access to cheap spl gear!

WCES: What your highest score ever?

YULI: 153.3 - Termlab back in 2004.....at Audio Thunder. Canada's loudest street class vehicle till this day!

WCES: What would you create if you had unlimited sponsorship?

YULI: A school bus that does 160+ daily bumping with a strip joint in the back! Coming soon to a Tim Horton's parking lot near you!!

WCES: What is your favorite product?

YULI: Which ever company honors their warranty and does it quick and efficient.

WCES: Who is your favorite competitor?

YULI: Chris Worble - a true world class competitor

WCES: Are you going to finals this year?

YULI: Db Drag. Compete or watch is yet to be determined.

WCES: How many awards have you won?

YULI: Really not sure...about 30 or more

WCES: Which one is your favorite?

YULI: I like them all equally. Same amount of work went into every single one.

WCES: Can you remember your first win?

YULI: I think it was back in 2001. I broke 150 for the first time. I was Street 1-2 back then with 2 Inhuman 12's and an Earthquake PHD2 amp.

WCES: What is your biggest barrier as a competitor?

YULI: Lack of big events in Canada.

WCES: Who do you want to thank?

YULI: The Home Depot guy for not charging me for extra cuts, the electronics place that sells the welding cable cheap, my neighbors for calling the cops only every other time I'm testing. The local bus station for having an outdoor power outlet for those very, very late nite spl sessions. All the local kids at Tim Horton's with loud stereos - you are the essence!

Forum of the Month

We are proud to present a new section. Because West Coast Extreme SPL is about getting info out to competitors, we have decided to add a Forum of the Month. This month's Forum is Canadian Auto Sound Forum. CASF is run by Chris Cecco (long time competitor and enthusiast). I had a chance to ask Chris a few questions about his forum.

WCES: What is the name of your forum?

CECCO: Canadian Auto Sound Forum. C.A.S.F.

WCES: Who is the owner(s) of CASF?

CECCO: I own and run it myself, Christopher Cecco

WCES: When was CASF started?

CECCO: The forum was started on April 25, 2006, I decided to start CASF because I wanted everyone in the car audio scene to have a place to ask/answer questions, talk and generally have a good time without any politics. It doesn't matter if you are just starting out in the hobby, an expert installer, a shop owner or a manufacturer everyone is welcome to stop in and chat. We wanted a place where our hobby can grow and prosper

WCES: What is the web site address to CASF?

CECCO: www.canadianautosoundforum.com but you can reach me, Chris Cecco, personally at: admin@canadianautosoundforum.com

WCES: Who are your moderators?

CECCO: At this moment in time I myself the administrator is the only mod on CASF.

WCES: We have to know, do you compete?

CECCO: Yes I compete under the name of Team Northern SPL. We compete in Db Drag (SM 3-4) and IASCA Idbl (Adv 2). We compete with a 1992 Dodge Caravan. We use RE Audio MT's but are currently looking for an amplifier sponsor.

WCES: Is CASF affiliated with any sanction?

CECCO: CASF covers all of the sanctioning bodies that have shows in Canada.

WCES: How many members does CASF have?

CECCO: As of May 31, 2006 we have 32 registered members.

WCES: Can someone advertise on CASF?

CECCO: Yes, shop owners, etc can proudly advertise.

WCES: What direction is CASF headed?

CECCO: In the future I see CASF the same way it is today, a fun and respectful place for people to talk about the hobby that we love, just with a lot more people.

WCES: Why should WCES readers go to CASF?

CECCO: WCES readership should come to CASF because it is a place where they can learn from people that have been in the hobby/industry for multiple years with a verity of knowledge from installation to sound competitions. Because it is a place where the readers can get information about upcoming SPL or SQ competitions, see results and pictures of past competitions. Because it is a place where the readers will not be pushed around or mocked.

WCES: What makes your forum different from others?

CECCO: CASF offers a live chat session. We also have dedicated sections to Canadian Db Drag and Canadian Idbl record holders. Members will be able to see the top 10 loudest Canadian scores for each class updated after every show in Canada.

WCES: Will you have any special guest?

CECCO: Yes, CASF will have a few special guests in the future.

WCES: Can you expand on this "Live" chat session?

CECCO: Yes. We are in the process now of fine tuning the chat feature. We will be having a regular scheduled day and time of the week that will be a chat day so that people can have a set time to chat "LIVE" with others across Canada.

WCES: What sections/categories are on CASF?

CECCO: Our current sections are as follows: General discussion, SPL, SQ, Off-Topic, Eastern Talk, Eastern Shows, Western Talk, Western Shows, Event Results, Canadian dB Drag Records, Canadian IDBL Records, CSPL, Industry Talk, For Sale, Wanted, Buyer/Seller Feedback

WCES: Can anyone become (apply as) a mod?

CECCO: Well yes and no. A person can't just become a member and ask to be a mod. They need to be a respected and well known person within the hobby/industry. All of CASF's moderators will be top notch.

WCES: Any info you want us to know about CASF?

CECCO: Canadian Auto Sound Forum currently does not have a logo, so we are going to have a contest. Members will submit their created logo to a selected section on the forum I will then choose the logo that I would like to use. The winner will receive a brand new set of RE Audio 6.5" components a value of $350. All logos are to be forwarded to me for review at:
